

Invitation to an ETUI Education webinar

To all organisations affiliated to the ETUC

25 June 2021

Dear Colleagues,

The world today requires the capacity to operate assertively. It is necessary to increase analytical skills and develop strategies at all levels. A way of thinking that is critical, open and strategic is a method to be learned and developed at the European level to define future strategies for a trade unionism that is effective, modern and long-term. The training aims to reinforce the strategic and creative thinking capacities of leaders who take decisions in their organisations.

The Education Department of the European Trade Union Institute, in cooperation with TCO (SE) and supported by TSL (FI), will organise the on-line training course called “Strategic foresight for trade union leaders”. The training will be held online from 4 to 6 October 2021, on ZOOM.

Aims of the webinar

- To strengthen competences to think strategically using creativity.
- To discover foresight methods and creative processes for strategic thinking.
- To increase analytical capacity when considering a given situation that we want to change.

Working languages

The Active language will be English. One passive language can be added according to the participants needs.

Programme

The draft programme will be sent later on, but please have a look on the word cloud attached in order to have an overview of the course.
